Cal Poly Continuing Education Announces Fall Class Line-Up

SAN LUIS OBISPO - Cal Poly Continuing Education and University Outreach's Fall 2006 catalog of courses is now available in print and online. Offerings include a wide range of programs in professional and personal development, online classes, certification programs, outdoor programs, test preparation and the Adult Degree Program, which is designed to enable busy adult students to earn a Cal Poly bachelors degree.

New additions this quarter include the Certified Manager Program, as well as the six-part Mini Medical School , created in partnership with French Hospital Medical Center . The Human Resource Certification Preparation program has also added a course in the Essentials of Human Resource Management.

Online courses include pharmacy, medical and dental office training and education, as well as an entire paralegal certificate program and many business and computer courses. A $100 rebate is available for online courses offered through Gatlin Education for those who enroll before Sept. 30.

Continuing Education also administers Open University, which allows the public to take regular Cal Poly courses without being enrolled as a student.
